

Con Corazon Outreach Report

25th July 2022 – Marampaqui

Many children have already lost their fear of visiting the doctor. A curious fact is that when children misbehave, parents threaten their children saying "I'm going to take you to the doctor if you continue to misbehave" or "I'm going to take you to the doctor to give you an injection". Parents use this phrase constantly, and on some occasions, they manage to calm the children down.

Through our health prevention and promotion campaigns, we managed to communicate to parents that the doctor is a friend and we are here to help them. We also address the issue of threats to children, giving them new ideas to promote children's good behavior.

When people are indoor it feels cold. They prefer to be outside to take the sun rays. Although after a while then they return to the shade to protect themselves from the hot sun.
