

Con Corazón Outreach Report

16th May 2023 – Pacchanta

Pacchanta is located 3 hours east of the city of Cusco, in a section called the Vilcanota mountain range. From Marampaqui to Pacchanta it takes 30 minutes by car. The population is located at an altitude of 4,200 meters above sea level at the foot of the snow-capped Ausangate. It has many turquoise lagoons that decorate the nature of the area. The walk through the snowy Ausangate is appreciated by tourism. The road through the Ausangate presents rock formations over 5 thousand meters high covered by ice.

This is our first time providing medical and dental care in Pacchanta. In Coordination with the leaders, we were able to organize a new outreach destination. There are two facilities that has been built by the Education Minister of Peru. They are meant to be classrooms but we found out that it has been empty for few years. The School and its children are still based in the old adobe building (100 meters from the new ones.) Despite the fact that these modern constructions have been made to avoid the cold in the area, with a system that keeps the heat inside, they remain empty. It was there where we were able to do our activities and we verified that the heat remained inside that we were even able to work without the need to shelter ourselves with jackets.

Activities
