

Con Corazón Outreach Report

25th May 2023 – Marampaqui

This is the second time we have visited the Pacchanta village and we noticed that the health need is also in high demand. We have become a mobile clinic, and with the coordination of local authorities, we can carry out our activities as normal. The equipment, instruments, materials and medicines are transported in the car along with the entire Con Corazón team.

On this occasion, children were protagonists as patients. It is winter and respiratory diseases increase. Cough, flu and fever are the common denominator at this stage of the year. On the other hand, we are glad for the concern of the parents, who upon learning of our presence, came to us with their children to receive the treatment that corresponds to them.

In the next campaign in June, we will return to Marampaqui to continue our service. Frequently, many of the inhabitants of Pacchanta come walking between 2.5 to 3 hours to Marampaqui to receive medical-dental care. That was one of the reasons that encouraged us to bring health, this time to this village.

Activities

Our waiting area is always a great place to get to know people. These patients are making alpaca threads while waiting.

Dr. Ingrith listening to the patient's chief complaint. Nurse Sayda translating from Quechua to Spanish.

Our biologist Wendy taking blood samples from children in the laboratory. They are not happy with the needles in their fingers, but that helps Dr. Ingrith a lot in getting a correct diagnosis thus proper treatment.

"Every year, hundreds of people die from frost-related lung diseases in the highlands. Government attempts to combat this problem have not worked." Says El Pais. Helping to combat this problem is our mission.
